FARMER'S COLUMN

The Farm and Home

Milk and cream keep better and sell better when the feed water is clean and pure. This should be kept clean and sweet. Clean water is the best. Milk utensils, separators, and other equipment need clean water for use and times.

The use of pure seeds tends to prevent distribution of weeds. It is possible to reduce weed trouble on a farm by keeping seeds from going to seed. Pure seeds are those from which the weeds have been removed, cleaned, and sorted.

Early spring is considered a good time to prepare the soil for an other season. Dead and diseased branches should be removed. Apply 12 to 15 bushels of manure to a acre. This will help the soil. Manure is a good fertilizer and it is good in the orchard.

Many farmers have long, narrow windows in their houses. To the floor, some farmers have improved their kitchen by raising such windows and putting them at a horizontal position 3 or 4 feet from the floor thus allowing light and air to them for equipment.

To avoid tobacco diseases, select a soil that is fertile and on which tobacco has been grown for several years. Many fields are infested with tobacco diseases which will harm the tobacco crop unless proper resist or various are used.

Grass should be sprayed with a herbicide. All lands begin to swell. This has been increasing in the last few years. It is a 2 percent of cushion or line with concentrated dried with right parts of water.

Practical Dairying

Farmers in Rockcastle and southern Madison counties received $132,000 from dairy products last year, according to the annual report of County Agent R. E. Spencer. Of this amount, 10,000 cows had $25,000 for milk.

Ten farmers cooperating with the county agent in applying improved methods reported a profit of $6,332 from 120 cows. "These men proved that it pays to stay by the cow in times of trouble," remarks Mr. Spencer.

Berea college is cooperating with the county agent and local farmers in improving the dairy industry.

Club Girl Makes Record

Miss Lucille Taylor, a Boone county girl, set a new record for 1 top club work when she earned 500 quarts of fruit, vegetables, jams, jellies, and pickles last year.

Seven years of training in 4-H clubs contributed to her ability to perform this remarkable feat of earning in one season more than 500 quarts of home-grown products. Her list of preserved foods contains the names of every fruit and vegetable commonly grown in Kentucky.

Miss Taylor made an enviable record in 4-H club work and served several years as a club leader. She represented the high type of leadership developed thru 4-H and 4-H club work. Florida clubs are organizations of farm boys and girls who have passed the maximum 4-H club age of 18.

More for Tobacco Growers

Tobacco growers this marketing year will receive more than 300,000 pounds in excess of the amount received last year. J. B. Watson, chief of the tobacco section of the agricultural administration, recently told the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

Of the 3,000,000 domestic manufactured have already paid or committed themselves to pay $3,000,000 on the market and $2,000,000 in processing taxes. Exporters are paying a proportionately share.

Mr. Watson said that a marketing agreement had been made whereby domestic manufacturers agreed to purchase a minimum of 2,000,000 pounds of the 1933 leaf crop at an average price of not less than 12 cents a pound. This price, he said, will depend to some extent on how promptly and completely buyers agree to take production.

Negotiations also are under way for marketing agreements for other types of tobacco. If a large percentage of growers sign adjustment contracts, it is expected that total returns from leaf tobacco for the current marketing year, including rentals and benefit payments, will be fully 50 percent larger than returns last year.

BOB JONES' COMMENTS

It is my sincere opinion that the next great religious movement will be a preaching crusade. It is God's plan. We had so many drives on during the World war that we haven't had much time to preach. That is one thing the matter with the world.

The apostle Paul didn't build a church. He didn't build a school. He didn't organize committees. He preached. He turned the world upside down and changed the current of human history by the proclamation of a great truth. That truth was that Jesus Christ died on the cross to save people. Men were trying to save themselves. The gospel says they can't do it, but they don't have to do it. Christ died for us. He can save us.

Christ is the world's great Teacher. He is the only perfect Example. But that is not sufficient. If He is just an Example, then He is not my Hope, but my Deliverer. He died for me. That is all the flowers of all springtimes in our hearts. He died for me. That is all the day dawns of all worlds' morning, moving into a glorious morning.

Some of the modernistic brethren say, "Back to Christ." All right, let's go back to the manner where He was born of a virgin. Back to a mountain where He taught. Back to a cross where He was wounded for our transgressions, where He died a substitutional and vicarious death. Back to a grave from which He arose bodily. Back to the Mount of Olives where He went back to heaven leaving behind Him the assurance that He will come again.

So far, morning one was quite comfortable in a number of ways, without any cold, but in the afternoon the sun hid its face, the north wind raged and called loudly for winter wraps. If dark, snowflakes sprinkled until another cold was wrapped in white. However, so far, we read 2 degrees below zero. We burned coal and turned on gas, but Tuesday found us a few below. Yesterday the sun was shining brightly and we are beginning to thaw.
